

Austin Fields

Austin thrives off of the controlled chaos of glass, sculpting and manipulating the material with a sensual and organic approach. With a delicate and distinctive aesthetic, her work speaks to beauty, sensuality and the naturally occurring curves of the body. Her work is informed by lightscapes and landscapes.

Austin Fields, originally from Arlington, Texas, has consistently explored concepts of light, space, reflection and abstraction in her work as a fine artist, photographer, and glassblower. She received her BFA in Glass & Sculpture from UTA in 2017 and has since relocated to Los Angeles where she is working as a glass artist and maker.
