

Dany Paragouteva Artist Statement

"Moon Flower" showcases the surreal world of Dany Paragouteva. The moon is a powerful force of nature and as such is depicted as a flower that opens at night to brighten up the darkness and capture the attention of both people and animals.

Artist Bio

Dany Paragouteva was born and raised in Plovdiv, Bulgaria. She moved to the US with her parents and graduated from Art Center College of Design, Pasadena, CA with a BFA in Illustration. Dany is now a fine artist and illustrator based in Los Angeles. She regularly exhibits her work in group art shows and art fairs, in addition to working on commissioned projects. Dany's art revolves around using her European heritage and soulful appreciation of the power of fairy tales to depict fantastical and surreal worlds. Much of her art stems from the question 'why not?,' and aims to bring out the dreamer in us that only the world of fantasy can inspire. It's a way to bend reality and create a place where we can find hope and a sense of adventure.
