

John Flores Artist Statement

Bud John Flores is a contemporary artist who lives and works in Los Angeles, California. He acquired his BFA with a focus in Ceramics at California State University Fullerton in 2019. John's art explores themes relating to life, death and ephemerality. His sculptures often combine plant and humanistic qualities, as a means to emphasize the connection between any living thing. John's work highlights and glorifies the importance of ephemerality, creating sculptures that freeze those short lived and yet pivotal transitions in life.
